July 18th, 2010, 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"He who does justice will live in the presence of the Lord."

From the Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

Many thanks to all of you who attended the installation Mass last Sunday and the reception, and especially to everyone who was involved in the preparations and the clean up, and to the wonderful altar servers. Also, a special mention should go to the organist and choir for their beautiful music. For those who were unable to attend, thank you for your prayers and best wishes.

A priest is required to renew his profession of faith and oath of fidelity upon his appointment as pastor. It was my privilege last Sunday to do so before Bishop Thomas and the faithful of St. Augustine Church. The faith which I am called to proclaim and live is the faith of the one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. My fidelity to Christ is expressed by my adherence not only to the teachings but also to the discipline of the Church, including the stipulations of Canon Law, the norms for the celebration of the Sacraments, and the policies of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. I do not find these to be odious but rather very liberating. They help us to maintain a true and effective communion with Pope Benedict XVI, our Archbishop Cardinal Rigali, and with all of our Catholic brothers and sisters.

At the Easter Vigil in April, 1990 at St. John Bosco Church in Hatboro, PA, along with a few other baptized Christians, I made a profession of Catholic faith by joining with the congregation in affirming the Apostles Creed and then stating that "I believe and profess all that the holy Catholic Church believes, teaches, and proclaims to be revealed by God." We were then received into the communion of the Catholic Church and received Confirmation and First Eucharist. It was the happiest day of my life, and I have never regretted the decision. I hope that you also always find joy in professing and living the faith that was "once for all delivered to the saints" (Jude 3).

In Jesus and Mary,

Father Scott D. Brockson
